

CLAIMS

What is claimed is:

1. A communication apparatus comprises:

means for determining a number of radio frames of a fixed duration on each of one or more physical channels in accordance with a transmission rate of the physical channel, the radio frames constituting a unit by which processing of a logical channel is carried out;

means for mapping the logical channel into the physical channels; and means for transmitting a signal over the physical channels.

WORKMAN NYDEGGER
A PROFESSIONAL CORPORATION
ATTORNEYS AT LAW
1000 EAGLE GATE TOWER
60 EAST SOUTH TEMPLE
SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH 84111